Excerpt: . . . 11 In March of 2001, a Berkeley, California multi-millionaire pled guilty to using beatings and threats to hold girls captive whom he had brought here from India to work in his real estate business. The victims were predominantly from families of lower castes and were allegedly subjected to sexual servitude while they were here. The defendant was sentenced to 97 months incarceration and was ordered to pay 2 million in restitution to four of his victims. Human trafficking cases are labor-intensive and time-consuming, often involving many victims and requiring the full-time involvement of multiple attorneys and investigators. This outreach effort is staffed full-time and has reached out to hundreds of organizations in the past year alone. The Department continues to hold roundtables with non-governmental organizations and representatives of state and local law enforcement to ensure that we all work together to combat trafficking. To assist this outreach effort, the Department of Justice and the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and State have jointly developed two brochures in trafficking in persons. The first is designed for Federal law enforcement...
